Main Street Bank Participates in Cell Phone Drive Cell phones will be traded for calling cards for U.S. Troops

WHEELING –Main Street Bank is proud to be an official drop-off location for a charity drive to provide calling cards to soldiers in Iraq.

For the next few months, people can donate deactivated cell phones at Main Street Bank, and a major cell phone carrier will exchange the phones for calling cards. As a result, these cards will be given to the troops who will then be able to call their families in the states.

“This is another way Main Street Bank is proud to support our troops domestically and internationally,” said Bob Furka, vice president of and controller at Main Street Bank.

The drop-off box is located in the main lobby at Main Street Bank. The bank is one of four drop-off locations in the Wheeling area.
